

Situation: A user has an empty current week plan, therefore is offered two options: (1) Generate a recipe or (2) Plan my week.

Issue: Generate a recipe UI/UX needs to fixed.

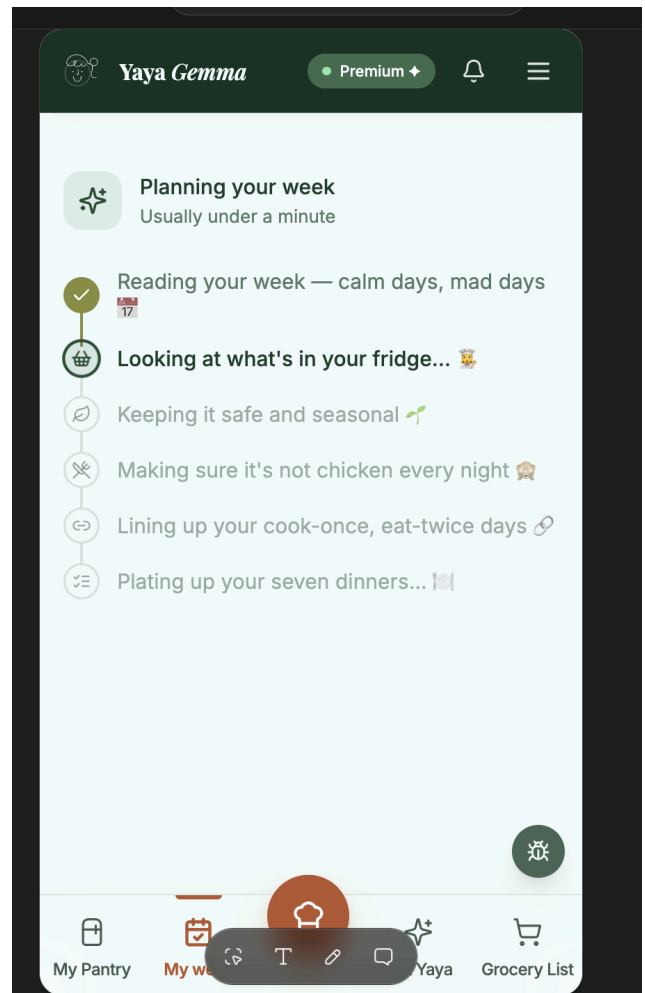

Issue #1: while loading the recipe, a generic loading image is prompted to the user.

The expected outcome: User should see what the "AI is going through" - similar to 'Planning your week' loading design.

Issue # 2: Once a recipe is generated, the homepage UI is showing as below.

Expected Outcome:
The homepage should look like the standard homepage with day of the week recipe including completion rate, cook now and not feeling this feature.
